GRI 303: WATER AND EFFLUENTS
Water and Effluents	303-1	Interactions with water as a shared resource Water demand from SL Green properties accounted for 0.1% of the total water volume available via the Croton and Catskill/Delaware Watersheds, which is provided by the NYC Water System. SL Green employs a water management strategy that includes the installation of low-flow fixtures, ongoing leak detection, encouraging responsible resource management among building operators and tenants, and monitoring water consumption data across our portfolio. Responsible storm-water management is included in development projects, and well as implementing Erosion and Sedimentation control planning for new construction and major redevelopment work.	2025 ESG Report New York City Watersheds

Water and Effluents	303-3	Water withdrawal SL Green properties rely on the NYC Water System, which serves all properties within the Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens, and Richmond Counties. In 2025, SL Green withdrew 1.5 million cubic meters of water from the NYC Water System. This water is state-operated and is 100% surface water drawn from the Delaware Aqueduct (drawing from Catskill/Delaware and Croton Watersheds). SL Green analyzes water consumption for all buildings based on utility bills provided to each property, and on-site teams confirm correct water usage through daily on-site meter readings.	New York City Watersheds
Water and Effluents	303-4	Water discharge This indicator is not material as all water used in the operations of SL Green properties is discharged into the sewer system, where it undergoes wastewater treatment. SL Green's development work follows the LEED requirements as part of the Erosion and Sedimentation Control Plan, which requires site protection to limit and control discharge during construction.	Wastewater Treatment System

GRI 304: BIODIVERSITY
Biodiversity	304-1	Operational sites owned, leased, managed in, or adjacent to protected areas and areas of high biodiversity value outside protected areas	Protected areas near SL Green properties are the Kensico Reservoir, Central Park, Bryant Park, the East River, Riverside Park, the Hudson River, and Madison Square Park.	New York Protected Areas Database
Biodiversity	304-2	Significant impacts of activities, products, and services on biodiversity	SL Green strives to contribute to the biodiversity of its areas of operations and has implemented several initiatives such as planting indigenous species and maintaining green roof space and public plazas. The company's biodiversity program has evolved to incorporate an urban garden with beekeeping to promote and preserve biodiversity. This program aims to create and maintain a thriving ecosystem within an urban environment. By combining the cultivation of plants and the presence of bees, it seeks to enhance ecological balance, support pollination, and conserve local flora and fauna. The urban garden serves as a habitat for various plant species, providing food, shelter, and breeding grounds for insects, birds, and other wildlife. Simultaneously, the bees contribute to pollination, aiding in the reproduction of plants and promoting genetic diversity. SL Green's supply chain assessments evaluate the upstream effects on biodiversity and the results do not indicate that any vendors have a significant negative impact on biodiversity.	2025 ESG Report Threatened and Endangered Species in New York
Biodiversity	304-3	Habitats protected or restored	SL Green's business strategy centers on managing, leasing, and/or redeveloping previously built environments, which minimizes our potential impact on natural habitats or ecosystems. SL Green's development projects are all located in NYC on previously developed sites, also known as "brownfield". Immediate biodiversity concerns associated with the built environment such as green space provisions or urban greening are typically managed at the municipal or urban planning level, rather than within the private sector. Nonetheless, we are committed to protecting biodiversity and reporting on our activities to reduce impacts on natural ecosystems	ESG Policies
